Inspired by the timeless elegance of jewellery, Charm celebrates the power of detail – form, proportion, and finish – each element carefully refined to perfection. At first glance, the nanocoated glass sphere appears simple and pure. But hidden within lies a second, glowing core. When illuminated, this inner sphere reveals itself, as light passes through the outer layer and transforms the entire form into something unexpected and beautiful. Just as jewellery once expressed one's identity, lighting today shapes the character of a space.
